NEGOTIATIONS IN EXCHANGE ARE RECESSED

Unsan, Korea, April 7—(P)—Communist radios today promised a peaceful welcome home to all prisoners returned by the United Nations command during the Korean war, even if the prisoners say they have renounced communism.

The broadcasts may have been an attempt to sound out the U. N. a possible compromise on one of the three key issues blocking armistice—voluntary repatriation of prisoners.

Gen. William F. Nuckols, U. N. command spokesman, said the command had no immediate comment.

Negotiations on the prisoner exchange issue are in recess to give officers opportunity to develop additional revenues for treatment.

Sub-delegates considering the other key issues met only seven minutes Monday but agreed to meet again Tuesday. Each side stated its position on the issues of the brief session.

The issues are: Whether Russia help supervise a truce and either the Reds may rebuild military airfields in North Korea during a truce. The U. N. command disapproves of both.

The Red broadcasts promising immunity to their returned prisoners were attributed to the "Korean people's armed forces and the peace people's volunteers."

They were carried in the Korean (Turn to Page Five)

Eisenhower Backers Say Taft Forces Waging a Silent Drive In State for Write-In Votes

Harrisburg, April 7—(P)—Eisenhower backers said today a "Operation Softshoe" campaign is underway in Pennsylvania to provide a substantial Republican presidential write-in vote for Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Edwin F. Russell, Harrisburg publisher and state chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower, told a newsmen the Taft campaign is a well-financed and silent one.

John D. M. Hamilton, eastern states campaign manager for Taft, said in Philadelphia last week that the Taft organization isn't sponsoring any write-in campaign for the April 22 primary for the Ohio senator.

The only names on the Republican presidential preference ballot are Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harold E. Stassen, president-elect of the University of Pennsylvania.

There are no names entered for the Democratic preference vote but State Sen. Samuel G. Neff (D-Lawrence) announced over the weekend formation of a Pennsylvania committee to enlist support for Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Neff said the committee consists of about 30 members and will be expanded later. He is temporary chairman of the group.

John G. Davis, state chairman of the Fight-for-MacArthur, has urged voters to write in the name of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the GOP presidential preference primary. Davis filed MacArthur's name in the primary but the general withdrew it and the Dauphin county court upheld the withdrawal.

Investigation Into Schuster Slaying Given New Impetus

New York, April 7—(P)—A pistol found in a Brooklyn parking lot early today gave new impetus to the investigation of the killing of Arnold Schuster, 24, whose tip led to the arrest of bank robber Willie (The Actor) Sutton.

Police were attempting to link the revolver, a .38 with three discharged shells in its cylinder, with the slaying. The weapon was found only about five blocks from Schuster's home, near which the Brooklyn salesman was shot down March 8.

The Fourth Avenue precinct in Brooklyn immediately became the scene of increased activity. Inspector Thomas J. Hammill, Jr., was called from his Bronx home at 2 a. m., and a large number of detectives arrived at the station house.

Within a short time police brought in a longshoreman for questioning. He had been in the station only a short time when groups of detectives left, returning with three other men.

Chief Inspector Conrad Rothgaest confirmed the finding of the weapon, but said it had not been linked definitely with the Schuster killing. Rothgaest said the revolver was believed to have been stolen from a Brooklyn pier and was part of a shipment bound for Japan.

As soon as the organization is recruited, a training program calling for one night per week will be started. This will be under the direction of the Pennsylvania State Fire School, which is rated one of the top in the country.

First Aid will be given by a qualified instructor from the Red Cross.

It is the aim of Chief Albaugh and the Civil Defense Officials to make this a first class unit. Toward that end a mobile unit from the department will probably be turned over to them for their training.

Those interested, please contact Chief Albaugh at the Central Fire Station, or call the Borough Office.

Arguments Heard in Forest County Case

Judge Allison D. Wade was hearing arguments for a new trial in the case of Mrs. Robert Taft, 18, of Warren, in Forest county court at Tionesta today. Mrs. Taft having been found guilty, last February 20, of involuntary manslaughter. She was charged with causing the death of C. Curtis Keifer of Tionesta RD, last May 5, when he was struck by her car near his home.

At the prothonotary's office in Tionesta, just before noon today, it was said the arguments before Judge Wade might take all day.

Little Black Scotty Friend of Franklin D. Roosevelt Lies in Grave Near Master

Washington, April 7—(P)—Longtimers in the White House secret service were recalling stories today about "the informer."

That was their name for Fala, the perky little black Scotty, close friend of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Fala was buried yesterday in the famous rose garden at Hyde Park, N. Y., near the grave of his master, whose side he seldom left in life.

Fala died in his sleep Saturday, two days short of his 12th birthday. He lived seven years, less a week, after his master's death.

YOUNGSVILLE FIRE LOSS IS ESTIMATED AT $100,000

BLAZE CAUSES DAMAGE IN TWO STORES

Fire, which broke out about 9:30 p. m. Saturday, gave Youngsville and Sugar Grove firemen a had two hour battle and caused an estimated $100,000 damage to the IOOF block and the stores of L. L. Johnson and Son and E. J. Abraham and Sons in Youngsville. Gaining headway rapidly, the blaze threatened the entire block for a time, but was successfully stopped about 11:30 o'clock before that extensive damage was done.

Cause of the fire is not officially set, but is thought to be short circuited wires in the switch and fuse panel at the foot of the cellar stairs of the Johnson furniture store. The blaze was first noticed from the Rapp and Wilcox store across the alleyway from the IOOF building, and an alarm turned in from the call box in front of the Fairmont Hotel by Chief of Police Ed Chappel.

The blaze started quickly, with Wyllys Johnson and Donald Abraham locking their stores for the night only a few minutes before the alarm sounded. Neither had noticed any sign of fire or smoke upon leaving. Both had only just arrived home when the fire was noticed.

When firemen arrived, the blaze had gotten into a cellar full of linoleum rolls and paint in Johnson's and was further fed by the cartons from two large shipments of floor lamps just arrived at the store. Wyllys Johnson and George Hajnik donned smoke masks and literally went through fire to get a 2 1/2 inch line down the outside cellar stairs. Other firemen pried off the sidewalk gratings on the SCENE OF DEVASTATION—A wheel and part of the fuselage of the two-engine C-46 cargo plane which crashed in residential Jamaica, Queens Borough, New York, lies in front of two houses, demolished by the fatal plunge of the plane which exploded Saturday and wrecked a block-long area.

New York, April 7—(P)—Municipal officials, acting swiftly on the U. S. Airlines cargo plane crash in Queens which took five lives, called conferences today to seek means of increasing airport safety.

Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) investigators meanwhile continued a probe of the crash of the plane which exploded Saturday and wrecked a block-long area.

The dead included the pilot and co-pilot and three persons on the ground in a crowded residential section of Jamaica, Queens.

The twin-engine C-46 crashed as it roared away from Idlewood airport after missing in an attempt of landing in a morning rain and murky overcast.

Judiciary Committee Decides to Hold Hearings on Nomination of McGranery

Washington, April 7—(P)—The senate judiciary committee decided today to hold hearings on President Truman's nomination of James P. McGranery to be attorney general.

No date for the hearings was set. Even before the formal decision to hold them, some senators predicted privately it might be weeks before the senate acted.

McGranery must receive senate approval before he can take the cabinet post.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), one of the committee's 13 members, said in advance he wants a full and complete investigation that may involve long questioning of McGranery, now a federal judge in Philadelphia and a former house member and top Justice Department official.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.), one of those who predicted confirmation may be delayed, already has asked to see a "full FBI check" on McGranery that has been brought up to date.

Although FBI reports on government officials and employees normally are denied congressional committees, an exception has been made for the senate judiciary chairman.

For years, he alone has been able to examine FBI reports on judges, U. S. attorneys, marshals and the attorneys general appointed by the president.

Under customary courtesy the two Pennsylvania senators, Duff and Martin, both Republicans, have been asked to comment on the nominee from their state. They are allowed 10 days for this.

Walkout of 16,000 Employees Of Western Electric Snarls Phone Service in the Nation

New York, April 7—(P)—Some 87,000 CIO communications workers struck across the nation today and threatened to disrupt telephone service. Another strike gripped the Western Union telegraph system.

Fruitless all-night mediation sessions culminated at 6 a. m. in a strike by 16,000 Western Electric Company employees, whose picket lines could snarl phone service in 43 states.

In separate disputes involving Bell Telephone systems in five states, the same union—the CIO Communications Workers of America—called out some 51,000 craftsmen, operators and clerks in New Jersey, Ohio, Michigan, Northern California and Nevada.

Wage disputes caused the nation-wide communications labor troubles, the first involving both telegraph and telephone lines at the same time.

The Western Union strike, now in its fifth day, is being carried on by the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union, which has disputed company claims of a back-to-work movement and service restoration between dozens of cities.

The Western Electric dispute appeared to be the most serious nationally. This company is a Bell subsidiary, and the union plans to picket telephone company offices.

Ernest Weaver, a CWA district official in New York, said 300,000 union telephone workers in the 43 states were prepared to respect the Western Electric picket lines.

But the prospects were that pickets would not be posted at all offices at one time. This was the "hit and run" tactic used by the union in a 1950 strike.

CWA President Joseph A. Beirne launched the strike "officially" in a statement he issued in Washington. He promised that emergency service would be maintained for the public as well as for government and military agencies.

Beirne said the companies' refusal to accept union offers was "irresponsible."

He said the union demonstrated "a willingness to compromise" and suggested that the case be taken before the Wage Stabilization Board. Beirne said the companies refused.

Although the CWA has separate contracts with the Western Electric Company and the various telephone companies involved, Beirne's statement referred to the disputes collectively.

The Western Electric Company manufactures, installs and distributes telephone equipment for the Bell system.

Some 51,000 CWA members are involved in the Bell system disputes in New Jersey, Michigan, Ohio, California and Nevada. Most of the employees are operators.

The phone companies in these areas made plans last night to use supervisory personnel if necessary. Municipal automatic telephone service, in cities like Detroit and Cleveland, would not be affected. But long distance and manual service would be hit.

KILLED BY OFFICER

Los Angeles, April 7—(P)—Alphine Callahan, 28, paid with his life, police said, for attempting to steal a child's piggy bank. Police bullets cut him down yesterday after he fled from the home of L. T. Whittinger. Whittinger's wife called officers after she saw Callahan climbing out of a window in the room where Whittinger's grandson, Gregory Hahn, 7, lay sleeping. There was $17 in the bank.

Four Motor Accidents Feature Police Activities in Borough Over Weekend

Four motor accidents, none serious, and the arrest of a drunken driver featured police activities over the weekend.

Charged with two misdemeanors, drunken driving and resisting an officer, is Russell Nelson, Jr., of Railroad street, Clarendon, arrested by city police at 12:20 a. m. Sunday on Pennsylvania avenue, west, near the city line. Nelson was lodged in county jail and was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Tracy M. Greenlund shortly before noon today. He entered a plea of not guilty, waived a hearing, and was bound over to court under $500 bail. This amount was not immediately available and Nelson was returned to the county jail.

An accident causing $250 damage took place at Fourth and East streets shortly before noon Sunday. Cars involved were operated by Richard P. Perry, 326 Water street, going west on Fourth, and Frances E. Main, 15 W. Fifth avenue, going south on East street. No one was injured.

Minor accidents, which claimed some police attention but for which no reports were filed, occurred at Pennsylvania and Elm, Friday afternoon; at Pennsylvania and Carver, Friday evening; and on Pennsylvania avenue, west, near Chestnut, Saturday afternoon.

Navy Patrol Bomber Lands at Anchorage Base After Flight Over the North Pole

Anchorage, Alaska, April 7—(P)—A Navy patrol bomber has landed at Thule Air Force base in northern Greenland after a flight over the North Pole, the Alaskan Air Command reported early today.

It was not known here whether the ski-equipped bomber, carrying 12 men on the trail-blazing flight, had actually put down at the Pole, as planned. The plane was to refuel at Thule and fly back to Point Barrow, Alaska, headquarters of the Navy's "Operation Ski Jump."

The plane was one of the two P2V Neptune bombers, each with 12 men aboard, which set out late Saturday from Point Barrow to attempt the first landings in history on the strategic polar ice cap at the top of the world.

The two planes landed on "Ice Island T-3," several hundred miles short of the Pole, engine trouble forced one of the bombers to remain behind on the island yesterday while the plane piloted by Lt. Comdr. C. D. Kephart, Bremerton, Wash., winged its way toward the Pole. This was the aircraft which later put down in Greenland. The Navy said the 12-man crew of the stranded plane, commanded by Comdr. V. J. Coley, Oakland, Calif., who was in charge of the Polar hop, had plenty of food and heat and there was no emergency.

ON TRANSPORTING FISH

For the purpose of clarifying the controversy regarding the transportation of game fish legally caught outside of the state and brought into Pennsylvania, the Fish Commission today issued the following statement: "We are of the opinion and believe that the intent of the Federal Act of 1947 was enacted as a protection to the various states and does not prohibit the transportation of game fish legally caught in another state and transported into Pennsylvania. If the fisherman is licensed to fish in an adjoining state and if the game fish he catches are in accordance with the size and limit and bag limit of that state, we can see no reason, under the Federal Act of 1947, why he could not bring them into Pennsylvania. The burden of proof of course must rest upon the fisherman, who upon apprehension by a Pennsylvania Fish Warden must be able to establish full compliance with the law."

Farnsworth Selected by Fish Commission For Trout Creel Census During Season

Farnsworth Branch, a well-known and popular public fishing stream near Clarendon, on the Allegheny National Forest has been selected by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission for a trout creel census.

These interesting, and highly important field investigations are a cooperative endeavor with the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the U. S. Forest Service and, most important of all, the local sportsmen, participating.

It is especially significant that this pilot experiment, the first of its kind in Pennsylvania, is being conducted in Warren County, a county recently winning state-wide honors for the outstanding contribution its sportsmen made to conservation in 1951. The Fish Commission hopes, however, to expand this work to other parts of the State and other types of streams. With such a conservation record, excellent cooperation on the part of the local sportsmen is assured.

The initial step in this experiment has already been taken through the stocking in Farnsworth Branch of 500 brown and 500 rainbow specially marked trout. The removal of one fish from each of these trout brands them effectively. In May, 500 brook trout, 500 brown trout and 500 rainbow trout, all of which have been fin clipped will be stocked and the experiment will continue for at least one or two additional years.

The general pattern of the experiment, which begins with the opening of the season on April 15, involves the use of five miles of Farnsworth Branch, from just above the fish hatchery to somewhere near the mouth, for the experimental area.

A field laboratory, consisting of a 28 foot trailer will be the field headquarters for this work and will be set up near the mouth of the stream. Signs, to be located at the limits of the area, will notify the fishermen of the necessity of stopping and showing their catch.

A unique method of taking inventory of the trout left in the stream at the end of the season will be carried out. An electric fish shocker, which the Fish Commission is developing, will be used. The fish will be stunned by this apparatus and after examination, returned to the stream unharmed.

A very thorough study of the stream will also be made from the biological, chemical and physical angle which should prove of great value in future fish stream management.

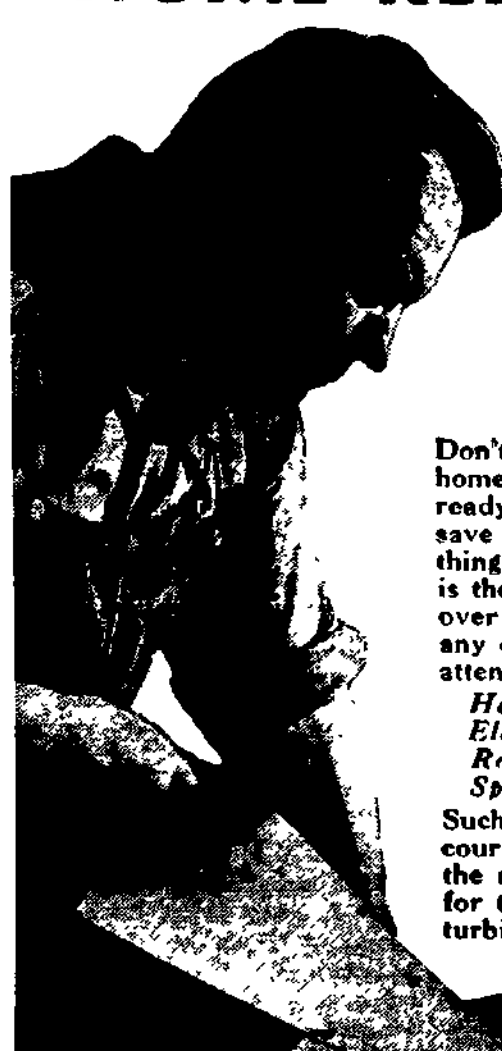

This selection of the Farnsworth Branch for such a study is one more indication of the growing of the many values inherent in the recognition throughout the State Allegheny National Forest, and how they are made available for public use and enjoyment under the multiple use philosophy of management that the Forest Service follows. There are several hundred miles of additional trout streams on the Forest and they will all receive a great deal of unhampered use during the coming open season. The only requirement is the State fishing license.

Because we have learned through and experience that one match or cigarette improperly disposed of can start fires that will ruin miles of productive fishing streams, those of us in the Forest Service surely hope that the tens of thousands of hopeful anglers on these streams will remember their personal stake in them and

Annual Warren County Music Festival Held at Tidioute As 30 Young Singers Participate

Tidioute, April 7—Tidioute High school was the scene of great activity, Friday morning, when choristers began arriving from Sheffield, Sugar Grove, and Youngsville to take part in the annual festival, which turned out to be one of the most successful cooperative events ever staged in Warren county. Each singer arrived with a full knowledge of the art he was in to sing in the various groups.

The guests were served lunch on by the Tidioute Parent Teachers' Association.

Besides practicing in the afternoon, an assembly was presented at the Tidioute High school by the 30 singers assembled from the county. After this program, the visitors went home with Tidioute students for dinner and to dress or the evening concert.

Culmination of the day's schedule was the Second Annual Warren County Music Festival presented in the High school auditorium at 8 p. m. under sponsorship of the Warren county branch PSEA. Guests were welcomed by Principal Carl W. Johnson who remarked that this was a unique venture in that usually the schools net in competition, but that the concert to be presented was an example of cooperation. Mrs. Marshall Morrow, Warren County Branch PSEA president, responded with thanks for Tidioute's hospitality.

A massed choir of 80 voices, approximately 20 from each participating school, opened the recital with a group of three numbers under the direction of Mrs. Albin Barr, Tidioute music director. Miss Emma Carlson of Youngsville then played a piano solo followed by the choir's rendition of "Thanks Be To God" conducted by Harvey Horn of Youngsville.

Mrs. Ruth Titchner of Sugar Grove-Farmington High school directed a group of three numbers sung by a massed Girls' Chorus, Lee Chamberlain and James Vile of Sheffield played a cornet duet. This number displayed excellent tone quality and flexibility. A mixed quartet from Sheffield sang "Dry Bones."

Loren Wright of Sheffield wielded the baton for the final number by the massed chorus, "Battle Hymn of the Republic." At the piano for this number were Shirley Sherrard and Geraldine Miller of Sugar Grove. Accompanist for the entire program was Mrs. Charlotte Rosequist of Tidioute.

One was impressed throughout the concert with the idea that students singing together for only one day could present a program with excellent diction, balance of parts, and tone quality under several directors. It is hoped that this recital will be the forerunner of many in years to come.

The Changing Landscapes

RALPH G. SCHRY

Hello Folks: The reports of numerous grass fires have touched off the spring forest fire season. Since conservation is use without abuse, let us all remember to be extremely cautious about fires as we use the forests, studying wild-life or spring flowers, checking over those old fishing holes, taking the family for a drive or just out for a hike through the hills. Remember a forgotten camp fire or a carelessly flipped cigarette or match can, in a matter of a very short time, eliminate all the above pleasures we are so fortunate to have close at hand. Facts and figures are so fortunate to have close at hand. Facts and figures, year after year, prove that of all the forest fires in the country, 90% or more are caused by man's carelessness. So let's just prove it can happen here and "Keep Warren County Green" by eliminating all man made forest fires.

Hubert Johnson, up Bear Lake way, completed the farm plans for his 30 acre home farm and the tract of woodland "on the hill." Hubert has quite a bit of class I land which is something that not too many farmers in Warren county can boast of. Along with this nearly level well-drained ground he has some poorly drained land that he intends to drain. He plans to establish a diversion, grass waterway, and open drains to accomplish the drainage. He has also started the pasture improvement work. The woodland tract had been cut over before he bought it so his plans are to protect it from fire and grazing and from time to time make improvement cuttings as recommended by the district forester.

Robert Johnston, also up Bear Lake way, worked up his farm plan with the help of an SCS technician. His first big job is to drain the land and then get crop production started. As the production increases he plans to build up his stock to use all the home grown feed. Bob wants to raise only a small amount of corn and concentrate on small grain and hay. He plans to start some areas

Brotherhood Votes Financial Support To Nat's Hospital

During the April business meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran Brotherhood, members voted financial support to the Swedish National Sanatorium at Denver, Colo., as one of its service projects.

The session was conducted by Robert Colter, with Carl Danielson leading devotionals appropriate to the Lenten season. The treasurer reported a balance of $183. Ernest Anderson opened program expressing thought provoking reflections on similarity of music behavior to that of all nature.

Pastor Nore Gustafson discussed the theme "The Christian and His Church". Referring to the great increases in church membership, he reminded that Augustana Lutheran church, in its efforts to train and prepare inspired pastors, is conducting a campaign for $450,000. Of this, the sum of $1,500 has been set as St. Paul's quota and that amount included in the church budget.

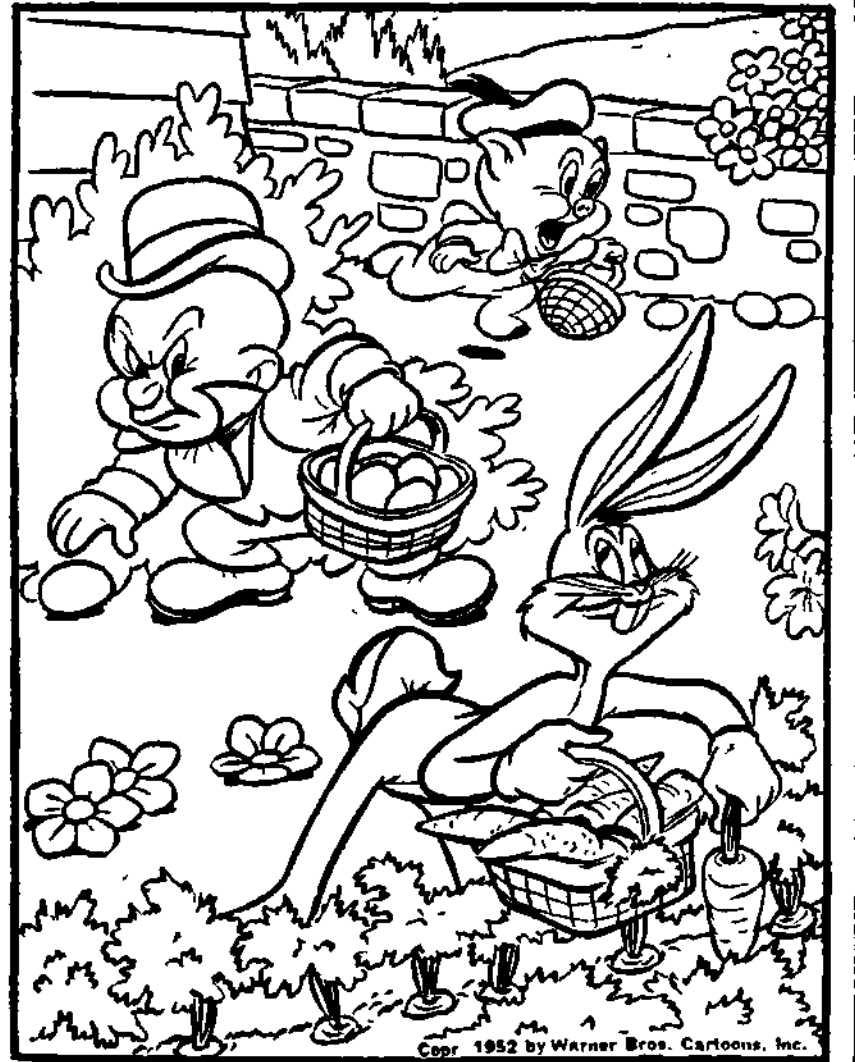

Concluding, the pastor showed slides of the ideally located Augustana Seminary on Zion Hill in Rock Island, Ill., one of the three cities in which are located several humanitarian institutions and churches where seminary students receive practical experience before conclusion of their studies.

Hosts for the evening were Carl Danielson, Frank Ekey, Ernest Ecklund and Pastor Gustafson.

of Birdsfoot Trefoil—Timothy and Ladine—Orchard grass for hay type pasture. This means that the first growth will be either cut for silage or pastured, the 2nd cutting used for hay and then pastured before growth stops for the year.

During the coming week notice will be received by many district cooperators when and where to pick up their trees and shrubs for spring planting. Please make every effort to pick up this stock as soon as possible at the time designated in order to speed up the distribution and planting before the spring rush of work starts. See you all next week.

Casino Can Be Challenging

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Written for NEA Service

Most people think that Casino is a game for children, but it's actually a fine game of skill and one of the most difficult games to play really well. A good player doesn't win every game, but in the long run he will give a very bad beating to the unthinking player.

For example, suppose you are the dealer and that you have just dealt the last cards of the pack to your opponent and yourself. You have already taken in 24 cards, so that you need only three more cards to have a majority.

If you always know how many cards you have taken in, you will just make sure of getting three cards. If you are uncertain, you may take some chances and wind up without 'cards' or with a tie.

A good player likewise keeps track of the spades and of all the cash points. For example, until Big Casino has been played you must avoid playing a card that will make a combination of 10 with anything on the table.

If your opponent builds a ten with a card from his hand, you may be unable to stop him, but at least you don't have to give it to him on a silver platter.

After you have played a few times, you will find it possible to keep track of all the high cards—the tens, nines and eights. Those are the cards that are most useful in winning big builds.

Towards the end of any deal you have a big advantage if you know, for example, that there are no nines out but that there are still three eights to be played. That sort of information steers you towards safe plays and away from dangerous plays.

Very few card players can keep track of all the cards. It's much easier (and almost as useful) to keep track of the unpaired cards.

For example, suppose your opponent takes a 5 with another 5. Those cards pair each other, so you pay no attention to them. But if he takes in a 3 and a 2 with a 5, all of those cards are unpaired.

As the game progresses you keep in your mind a constantly changing list of the cards that are unpaired. This isn't very hard, especially with a little practice. When the last turn comes, you usually know every card in your opponent's hand.

For example, suppose you keep track and know that 8, 7, 5, 3 are unpaired up to the last deal. Your last four cards include an 8 and a 5. You know that your opponent must have the 7 and the 3.

You may not be sure of his other two cards. Jerpahs the picture cards will give you a clue. Or perhaps you will know from keeping track of spades, cash points, and the higher cards.

Even if your information is not complete, it's a lot better than being altogether in the dark.

These Vegetables Yield An All-Summer Harvest

Vegetables which are most rewarding to the home gardener are those which, once mature, can be harvested the rest of the season. These do not require succession planting, and two of them—parsnips, and salsify—can be harvested all summer and winter. It is important, of course, not to sow too much, for surplus vegetables cost both work and money and are usually wasted.

Take especial care with the greens—parsley, Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach—which are often overplanted. Instead of a row of each, to divide a row among the three will suffice for many families. All are among the richest of vegetables in vitamin A and should be eaten often, say nutritionists.

The time for planting all these crops is definite. Sow seed of the hardy ones just as soon as the soil can be prepared. Plants, even of the hardy ones, should not be set out until the danger of frost is over, and that is also the time to sow, or set out, plants of the tender varieties.

but will usually average about 12 weeks. To estimate the space sufficient to supply the table for this period multiply the figure given in column two of the accompanying table by 12, then again by the number of times per week the vegetable will be served on your table.

To obtain the yields for tomatoes and cucumbers estimated in the table, both must be trained on stakes or fences, to reduce the ground space occupied. If vegetables are to be grown for canning, additional space must be provided. Where catalogs offer both early and late varieties of a vegetable, space should be divided between them, to get both an early harvest and the heavier yield which the slow-maturing kinds usually give.

DIGNITY OF PUBLIC OFFICE LOWERED

Bruce Bissat, NEA editorial writer strikes a logical chord when he says there have been many strange interludes in Washington during the past seven years. But never was there a sordid spectacle than the Newbold Morris-J. Howard McGrath affair. The dignity of public office suffered deep offense in consequence, and the American people must have few regrets that these two men have now been yanked unceremoniously off the national stage.

Morris, President Truman's cleanup investigator, was the lesser offender. His chief difficulty seemed to be that he is temperamentally unsuited for life in today's chaotic capital. From his own personal standpoint, maybe that is good. But from the public's, it is not.

Morris' investigation into corruption appeared ill-starred from the beginning, when charges of many sorts started flying his way the moment he was named.

The motives of the senators who assailed him may not have been wholly pure. They may have wanted to discredit Morris so his inquiry would fail and the corruption issue would stay alive until election time.

However that may be, Morris lost his poise and balance under this assault. He could have defended himself in a soberly mature manner that might well have shamed his critics. Instead he lashed out in a flailing counterattack that understandably aroused widespread indignation in the senate and elsewhere.

Morris, plugging ahead anyway, showed marked courage; but it was not the disciplined courage of the man who has carefully gauged his adversaries and knows where and how to hit them. He quickly dissipated any chance he had of doing a good job.

Attorney General McGrath is another story. He should have been ousted long ago. His cavalier, indulgent attitude toward the shenanigans of his ex-Assistant Attorney General, T. Lamar Caudle, was enough to indicate his unfitness for high office.

Nothing in McGrath's conduct of the Justice Department suggests he ever was qualified for such duty. He was a crony of the president's. His judicial background was almost nil. His appointment to that job apparently was in keeping with the now established system of progression by which administration favorites are elevated to the Supreme Court.

It was absurd to hope that any man who would take so bland a view of Caudle's misdeeds would ever cooperate sincerely in an honest investigation of his own department and his own affairs. When the test came to that, McGrath fell down, as ought to have been expected.

Whether he has anything to hide in his personal background is now for congress or some other investigative agency to determine. Certainly the public will find it hard to take at face value the professions of concern for "individual liberties" which he made his excuse for blocking Morris' inquiry.

The final dismal episode was that public squabble with Truman recently while the pair awaited Dutch Queen Juliana's arrival at Washington Airport. The president must of course share the blame for this, as he must for the fact that a man of McGrath's questionable capacity for high office ever was allowed entry into his cabinet.

Morris' investigation may have proved a fiasco. But that rather volatile gentleman did accomplish one thing. He got rid of McGrath.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES

Through the cooperation of the churches and the Warren County Ministerial Association Holy Week will be impressively observed, not only in the borough but in most rural communities. There will be the usual three-hour service on Good Friday, details of which have already been publicized.

The observance of Good Friday by both churches and businesses has become steadily more widespread throughout the country, says the National Council of Churches of Christ in U. S. A.

The Council, releasing the results of a survey, says that the number of churches holding special Good Friday services, or joining in cooperative services, has grown steadily.

On the business side, the Council says, more and more firms are excusing employees for church attendance or are closing completely during the hours when such services usually are held.

The April snow storm at least was welcomed by owners of sugar bushes.

Here And There

In connection with the announcement that Dr. D. A. Smith has closed his office and is retiring from the practice of dentistry after 55 years of serving patients in the community, our attention has been called to a "plug" given in the veteran dentist over a half-century ago when he moved his office from the Warren National Bank building to the Rogers Block at what was then called "223 Water street," now Pennsylvania avenue. It was probably written by the late Chapin Hall, editor of The Evening Times, who later became a leading feature writer on one of the Los Angeles papers. It reads as follows:

"New theories and new discoveries are constantly being advanced in all the branches of science, and it takes an up-to-date man to keep informed regarding them. Such a man is Dr. D. A. Smith, the dentist, who located in Warren last April and opened handsome parlors at 223 Water street. The germ theory of decay has just recently been discovered by Dr. Williams, of London, and this new feature, as well as all others are known to Dr. Smith. He was born in the county of Yorkshire, England, but came to America when a young boy and completed his education at the Jamestown Business College and Philadelphia Dental College, where he graduated last spring. Although Dr. Smith has been among us but a short time, he has established a reputation as a skillful workman and a scholarly gentleman, and being well versed in singing, will no doubt, be often heard of in society circles this fall."

Pre-Convention Help by HST Can Kill Chance of Favorite

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Best long-shot is that Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois will cease being the reluctant dragon and will make an open bid for Democratic presidential nomination after the April 8 Illinois Primary.

Governor Stevenson resisted urgings that he become the Truman administration heir because he did not want to be tagged as the President's hand-picked successor. President Truman's emissaries who went to Springfield, Ill., to persuade Stevenson to run, included such high political advisers as Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman. Stevenson turned them all down.

Governor Stevenson's backers hoped that a boom for their man would develop at the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner in Washington. It didn't. But the governor refused to make a flat statement that he would not accept the nomination, as Truman did, and that leaves the way open for him to run. Also, he admitted that the Illinois State Central Committee of the Democratic Party is empowered to pick a successor candidate for Illinois governorship, after the primary, if he withdraws to run for the presidency.

If Stevenson's candidacy goes any place, it will have to get principal support from big city Democratic machines which have dominated the party. Illinois boss Jake Arvey again becomes an important cog in his development.

Biggest hope of the Stevenson crowd now is that President Truman will remain neutral till Democratic convention picks the candidate at Chicago. A Truman endorsement before that, tossing the torch to any particular candidate, might become a hot kiss of death. After the convention, Truman support would be welcomed.

Big puzzle in Truman's refusal to run again is what it will do to candidacy of Georgia Sen. Richard Russell. Movement behind Russell was largely an anti-Truman drive. It is backed by such men as Gov. James E. Byrnes of South Carolina, Sen. Walter George of Georgia, Sen. Richard Byrd of Virginia.

In spite of Senator Russell's announcement that he will campaign all the more actively now that President Truman has withdrawn, much of the steam of the hate-Trumanites is now let down.

Another riddle raised by Truman withdrawal is what the President's attitude will be toward candidacy of Sen. Estes Kefauver. The word that Truman dislikes Kefauver—spread by ex-Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois and others—is denied by Kefauver supporters. They insist that when Kefauver went to see the President, before announcing Mr. Truman told him, "You can't tell, I might be in your corner before this is all over."

Decision of Democratic National Committee Chairman Frank McKinney to stay neutral in pre-convention scramble of candidates for the Truman mantle offers only chance to keep party organization together. First reaction to President's bomb-shell announcement of withdrawal was that party would be shattered into half a dozen splinter fragments. One behind each favorite-son candidate.

State and local bosses, in Washington after the big dinner, were at first inclined to be indignant at the way President Truman had surprised everyone. Typical was the reaction of New York State Committee Chairman Paul M. Fitzpatrick. After the President's speech he asked, "Why did he have to do it that way? If he knew he wasn't going to run he should have said so before the New Hampshire primary. That would have given us a chance to get organized behind one candidate."

Next day Fitzpatrick issued a formal statement, praising the President's action and saying it was not unexpected.

Daily Lenten Sermonette

THE REV. FRANCIS E. FEHLMAN, Salem Evangelical-E. U. B.

THE GLORY OF THE CROSS

"God forbid that I should glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ." Galatians 6:14.

As most of us know the cross before the death of our Lord was the most degraded symbol in the world. Crucifixion had been invented by the Carthaginians who were notorious for their savage cruelty. Then it was taken over by the Romans. The Jew with his pride of race and religion felt that his cup of shame was filled to the brim when this form of punishment was used on his race.

But Paul has said to the world that he would not glory except in the Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ. What did he mean by this declaration? We glory in many things; in family, in position, in power, in possessions. But we need something more lasting in which we can glory. And that something is the Cross of Christ which brings to us an everlasting hope. Why is it that Paul, and we also, glory in the Cross.

We glory in the Cross first of all because it has revealed the heart of God. It's not difficult to discover the mind of God, for we see it revealed in the heavens above and the beauty of the earth around us. But the human heart cries out for something more than mind. And it is the Cross of Christ that reveals to us the depth of God's love.

And more than this the Cross is a demonstration of God's justice. The law had to be honored if God who made the law was still to be God.

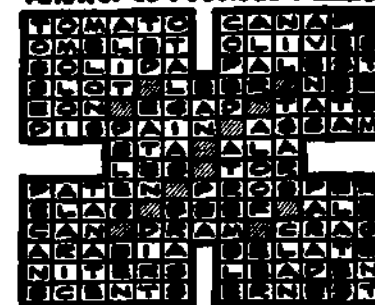

Then finally we glory in the Cross because we find in it the power of God to the salvation of everyone who believes. We read, "If thou shalt believe in this heart and confess with thy lips the Lord Jesus, thou shalt be saved."

In the cross of Christ I glory, Towering o'er the wrecks of time; All the light of sacred story Gathers round its head sublime.

Trends Indicate Possibility Of A G. O. P. Deadlock

Chicago, April 7.—(AP)—With three months of the campaign to go, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appear to be heading toward a possible deadlock at the Republican presidential nomination convention here in July. Although fewer than one-fourth of the delegates have been chosen, a recent trend toward splitting state support between the two candidates indicates they are running the sort of race that may tie the national convention into knots.

Blaze Causes Damage In Two Stores

(From Page One) alley side of the building and got another line in at that point. Meanwhile, the fire had gotten into a false partition along the large stair well leading to the 1000 lodge rooms and had eaten its way to the second floor. The flames were all enclosed and firemen had to chop holes in the stair walls to get water on the blaze, and were driven from the stairway time and again by the heavy, greasy smoke. The false partition spreads across the rear of the building, and while fire damage was confined pretty much to that area, the smoke and water ruined all merchandise in both stores. From the Abraham store, hundreds of new spring dresses, all badly smoke stained, were carried out and stored overnight in Youngsville National Bank and at John's Jewelers. The beautiful trophy, awarded the Warren County Council of Sportsmen, which was on display in Abraham's window since the annual dinner of the Brokenstraw Fish and Game Club Thursday evening, was among the first things removed from the store and was undamaged. Upstairs in the lodge rooms, extensive damage occurred in the kitchen. Many dishes were broken and several appliances ruined. Also damaged was a large valuable rug in the rooms. Neither Mr. Abraham or Mr. Johnson could make any accurate estimate of the loss yesterday, but each store contained huge stocks of spring merchandise. IOOF officials could not estimate damage to the building, but it is thought that the entire rear of the structure will have to be rebuilt. The loss is partially covered by insurance in each case. In line with the mutual aid agreement among fire companies, while the Sugar Grove department was aiding Youngsville, Busti went to Sugar Grove and stood by, while Lakewood sent one truck to Busti to stand guard. It is estimated that 25 men from Sugar Grove reported with two trucks. All Youngsville equipment and available manpower battled the fire. It was Youngsville's most serious fire since the big blaze of 1930 which cleaned out both sides of the street on the west side of the Brokenstraw, and the largest fire since the Fairmont Hotel burned in 1946. Abraham's was damaged by fire in March, 1945, when burning papers from an incinerator were blown into the back room and started a blaze. At that time, the Johnson store suffered only minor smoke damage.

Delegation of Rotarians Help to Swell Attendance

(From Page One) God has gone to so much trouble to redeem our lost and wracked souls. He had a great love for what He had created and that love is the reason why the divine Christ suffered on the cross to make amends for our sins. "Our worth does not lie in what we are but in what God can make of us. Without the redeeming work of Christ, the divine image is gone from our souls, and the story of the cross, with the crucifixion of Jesus, is the story of God reclaiming us." Continuing the theme of The Cross, tomorrow's message by Dr. A. B. McCormick, retired Presbyterian pastor, will be "His Lesson of Love". These services, sponsored by the Warren County Ministerial Association, are from 12:20 to 12:50 p. m. each day through Thursday and all in the community are cordially invited.

EASTER VACATION Warren borough students will have three school days off for Easter vacation this year, commencing after the final class period on Wednesday afternoon and continuing through next Monday.

MRS. MCCORMICK WINS Mrs. Arthur E. McCormick, 110 Redwood street, has received word from the General Mills Corporation that she was seventh in a national contest recently conducted by the firm, and that she will soon receive a new Crosby radio as her prize. First prize was $20,000 which sum, Mrs. McCormick declares, she had already spent in advance "thinking." The contest was promotion for the Betty Crocker products, Mrs. McCormick having submitted four reasons for using the Gold Medal flour-Wesson oil "stir in" recipe which was presented.

PROTEST RATE INCREASE According to an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg over the weekend the $32,000,000 rate increase proposed by the Bell Telephone Company is under protest by the Pennsylvania CIO Council. A petition filed with the Public Utility Commission declared that since the increase "strikes at the pocketbook of almost every Pennsylvania citizen" it should be investigated thoroughly before being allowed to take effect. The proposed Bell increase already has been suspended until Sept. 7 pending a PUC investigation of its reasonableness. The CIO complaint, filed by Harry Boyer, state CIO president, asked that one of the five PUC members preside over hearings rather than a regular hearing examiner.

ADOPT DRIVE SLOGAN "Girl Scout Scrap Drive For Dollars and Defense" is the theme adopted by the committee for the general scrap collection to be staged on May 16 by the Warren-Forest County Council of Girl Scouts. From April 28 to May 3, the girls will distribute tags and cords in a "doorknob campaign" preparatory to the pickup and ask wholehearted cooperation in a general spring housecleaning effort. The drive has a three-fold purpose: To provide funds for serving 1,000 additional girls and 150 leaders; to aid the national defense program by putting to work all available scrap material; and to do a community service by conducting a spring cleaning of homes and neighborhoods.

Poodle Note in the Easter Parade

By BETTY CLARKE AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

The rumor is that Mom's pet poodle will play a big part in the Easter parade. Besides the fact that Mom and poodle will have matching hairdos, predictions are that they might even wear matching chapeaux.

But before a girl "goes to the dogs" in that respect, advises Mrs. M. Louis, head of a hair design institute, let her take a good look in the mirror. Says she:

"With the poodle cut rearing its cropped head, many women think their coiffures must enter the animal kingdom in one guise or other to be fashion-right. The baby lamp cut, poodle, pedigreed or whatever you call the hairdo, it all adds up to the old windblown topsy cut."

This well-known hair designer believes that the poodle fad is the last gasp of the short hairdos. She suggests that these little short ends should be swept into something more feminine "and human."

Mrs. Louis is one of many hairdressers to predict that this season will see the last of this short curly-cropped hairdo which women insist on wearing whether it is becoming to them or not. The consensus is that there will be an interim hairstyle sweeping the hair upward, while the hair is permitted to grow into an upswipe coiffure which many hairdressers predict will be the "fashion to replace the poodle cut."

TROUBLE WILL COME WITH BAD BIDDING

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service The hand shown today played an important part in the recent Vanderbilt Cup tournament. Both North and South stepped a trifle out of line in the bidding, and the result was that the partnership was in serious trouble.

NORTH 2
♠ A3	♥ KJ653	♦ K764	♣ 52
WEST
♠ 109	♥ A986	♦ J3	♣ AQ1064
EAST
♠ QJ852	♥ 102	♦ AQ92	♣ 97
SOUTH (D)
♠ 764	♥ 74	♦ 1085	♣ KJ83
Neither side vul.
South	West	North	East
Pass	1♣	Double	Redbl.
1NT	Double	Pass	Pass
Opening lead—♠ 10

North had a doubtful takeout double of one club. Most good players would wait for a better hand, both in high cards and in distribution. Some good players might overcall with one heart on the North hand; and others would simply pass.

When North did double, East redoubled, and it was up to South to pass with a weak hand. The actual bid of one no-trump made it impossible for North to rescue himself at one heart, and it warned North against interfering unless he had a really good suit.

If South had passed, North would have been in no serious trouble at one heart. The chances are that the opponents would have played the hand at a part score in spades or no-trump. When the hand was actually played, Johnny Crawford, holding the West hand, found the killing opening lead—the ten of spades. Crawford took the ace of hearts at once to lead his remaining spade, forcing out dummy's ace. Now there was no way to get to the South hand, so declarer led the king of hearts and tried a third round in the hope that the suit would break even.

This set up two heart tricks for Crawford. He took one of them and shifted to diamonds whereupon his partner, George Rapee, could get two top diamonds and the rest of the spades. Rapee could eventually lead a club through declarer, and the defenders eventually won ten tricks, collecting 700 points on a hand that they would normally drop below game.

YOUR FORESTER

Once again the forest fire season in Pennsylvania is with us. Once again, along with the feeling of spring in the air, the early wildflowers brightening field and woods, and trout streams smoothly racing to the sea, it is time to think of the things we promised ourselves to do to keep Pennsylvania green. The warning is to use extreme caution with fire—in the home, as well as out of doors. If you live on the edge of town bordering field or woods and have to contend with an escaped or uncontrolled fire, be calm. Don't run to the corner fire alarm box to bring assistance. Such an alarm results in all of the equipment from a local fire station responding. Call the fire company by phone, explaining the situation and the location. The response will be just as quick and will not empty any particular fire station of reserve, which may be needed in the city.

The direct protectors of our Pennsylvania forests—your Forest Fire Wardens—strongly urge that no outdoor brush and trash burning be done during the dry, windy days of April and May. For greater protection and safety, do such absolutely necessary burning on cool, damp evenings or on rainy days when brush, grass and woods fire hazards are lowest. Notify your District Forest Fire Warden (Warren 1271) when you intend to burn. A townsmen spotting smoke cannot always tell whether such smoke is a controlled fire or wildfire.

Fire crews, responding to an unreported smoke which turns out to be a false alarm, detract manpower from an actual fire. This may be your property. Your cooperation in reporting intentions to burn and reporting fires is your contribution to conservation and the protection of Pennsylvania's out-of-doors.

Each year much valuable timberland is burned through man's carelessness as a forest guest or through brush, trash and field burning. Each of us in Pennsylvania has the responsibility of protecting our natural resources from waste and destruction—protecting our wildlife and timber supplies, our watersheds, streams and recreation areas. Each man, woman and child must be cautious with fire, for, as it is said, "Only you can prevent forest fires."

Eisenhower Backers Say Taft Forces Waging Silent Drive for Write-In Votes

Russell said the Eisenhower organization in Pennsylvania was completed last week with the appointment of local chairmen in practically all of the counties. Top Democrats are keeping a tight silence on whom they will back for president at the Chicago convention next July now that President Truman has stepped out of the picture.

While unable to hear and identify the specified tune for the first prize, Mrs. Clifford Mack, 506 West street, will soon be adding one-half dozen blouses to her spring wardrobe as consolation winner in the Sunday night "Stop the Music" broadcast over ABC.

SMOKE, NO FIRE

Firemen were called to the Warren Super Market, 48 Pennycuiper avenue, east, shortly after 2 p. m. today when smoke was noticed in the market. No fire was found.

Caughey, and elected the following new directors: Charles Frantz, Ernest Hagenlocher, William E. Lutz, Gerald M. Newton, Ralph Owens, LeRoy Schneck and Rutland Sanford. CURRENT FAILURE

When a line parted at the Penelec sub-station to the rear of the old car barns, at 2:12 p. m. today, current throughout most of Warren was off for about 19 minutes. Borough policemen were placed on traffic duty at congested corners until the street lights started working. The line was repaired by Penelec workmen in record time.

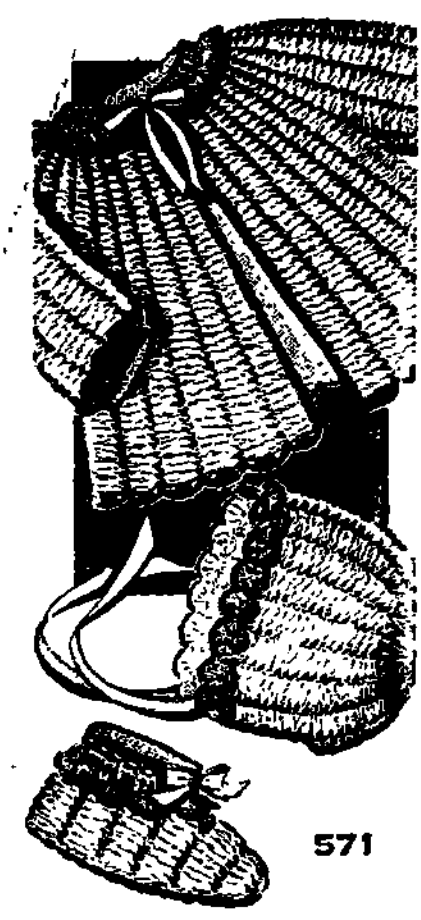

NEW YORK "SPEED TRAP"

A number of local motorists report a speed trap being operated in New York State about a mile south of Sinclairville. Local autoists having occasion to drive north in that area are advised to keep within the speed limits if they would avoid being caught in the "net."

Final Conference Held by Lander Methodist Church

Lander, Apr. 7—The fourth quarterly conference of the Methodist church was held in the parsonage, with the Rev. Wayne Furan, district superintendent, presiding and giving a devotional address, "Give God a Chance."

In his annual report, Rev. Gustav Erickson, gave a brief resume of the work since the last annual conference in June. During this period, 115 sermons have been preached, 9 weddings performed, 14 funerals held, 12 baptismal services held, and more than 200 pastoral calls made. The church held its 90th anniversary in August and, on this celebration, the interior of the parsonage has been redecorated, also, and all this work has been paid for in full. Three new members have been received and three have died, leaving the membership at 206.

Special evangelistic services were held the third week in March with Rev. Arnold Lundberg, Warrenton, as speaker. The church's work of religious education is extended to the entire community through Friday afternoon classes when Lander children are released from school classes.

By unanimous vote, the conference, bishop and superintendent were asked to return the pastor or another year, and his salary was voted increased by $200.

Mrs. Elmer Swanson, Sunday school superintendent, reported the school had an enrollment of 157 and a total income of $458.85. Mrs. Fred M. Ludwick, WSCS president, showed an income from that group of $1,087.15. The detailed report presented by the church treasurer, Mrs. Paul Rowland, showed a total income since last June of $6,282.61. It was decided to ask the congregation for a special Easter offering for missions and some incidental expenses.

The following officers were elected and approved by the conference: Trustees, Mitchell Mason, Elbert Strong, Roy Lindell, Donald Ludwick, Richard W. Wenzel; stewards, Mrs. Elbert Strong, Donald Mills, Mrs. Joseph W. Swanson, Mae Bishop, Mrs. Paul Rowland, Mrs. Elmer Swanson, Mrs. Albert Firth, Mrs. Harry Ludwick, Raymond Mahan, Marian Mills, Mrs. Clara Burgett.

Committees appointed included the board of education; the pastor's wife, with Mrs. Donald Ludwick, Ernest Lindell, Mrs. Kenneth Lindell, Carol Ludwick; finance, Mrs. Harry Ludwick, Marian Mills, Mrs. Neva Hagberg, Mrs. Bert Van Ord, Mrs. Albert Firth, and the stewards; records and history, Mae Bishop, Mrs. Floyd Marsh, Janet Burgett.

The Story of Easter, I.

PASSOVER

COUNCIL OF NICAEE

AP Newsfeatures

The first Christian churches often were in Jewish communities. Sometimes they linked the Jewish Passover to the Resurrection. One of the early church discussions centered around the need to separate Easter from the Passover. A remnant of this old discussion is the use of the term "Paschal" in connection with the Easter season. "Paschal" derives from a term which meant "pass over."

Pilgrimages to holy places were an important part of early

Easter celebrations. Some authorities think the need for moonlight to aid the travels of the pilgrims had an important part in setting the date of Easter as the first Sunday after the full moon following the vernal equinox.

One of the early attempts to unify Easter practices was made at the Council of Nicaea in 325. It brought together most of the bishops in the time of Constantine to thrash out perplexing church problems. Constantine himself attended.

Grace WSCS Has Fine Address On Work in Kentucky

There was a large attendance for the April meeting of the Grace church WSCS, held Friday evening. Mrs. LeRoy Hammerbeck conducted a short business session, during which routine reports were given.

The nominating committee also gave a partial report and announcement was made the election of officers for the coming year will take place at the May meeting, when the new slate will also be installed.

Mrs. Jessie Bairdson conducted an impressive devotional period following the business session. She chose the topic "Lent," tracing its significance from the beginning, when Christ fasted for 40 days and nights prior to His trial and crucifixion, through the years since that time. The devotionals closed with a vocal duet by Mrs. Florence Anderson and Mrs. Edice Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson then offered a word of explanation concerning the change in speakers for the evening. Dr. Shao-Chi Yu was unable to be present, since he had been called to Washington on business, but the group was fortunate in being able to secure Miss Ickes, who has been doing missionary work with the mountaineers in Kentucky. She was presented to the group by Mrs. Henry Wynan, program chairman.

Miss Ickes has a pleasing manner of speaking and her talk was interspersed with both pathos and humor as she related her experiences as a teacher and religious worker with these people of Kentucky. While some may have been a bit disappointed at first to learn that Dr. Yu could not be present, everyone seemed to enjoy Miss Ickes' talk on the fine work she has been doing.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF LOCAL MAN INJURED

Martha Ann Fenstermacher, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harder Fenstermacher, 131 Mott street, Corry, and granddaughter of John P. Fenstermacher, 101 Pioneer street, this city, was painfully injured at 5:10 Thursday evening in a two-car accident on North Center street, in front of the Ritz restaurant in that city.

The youngster, an occupant in a car driven by Howard Ross, Corry, sustained a deep laceration under the right eye and several other cuts across the face.

Police said Ross, with the Fenstermacher girl standing in back of the front seat of the two-door sedan and his own daughter on the front seat, was driving northward. Taking his eyes from the road for a few seconds, to speak to the children, he failed to see an auto operated by William H. Donaldson, of Spring Creek, stop as the last car in a long line extending northward to the traffic light at Washington street. Ross attempted to stop but skidded into the rear of the car ahead, the impact hurling the Ross girl to the floor but she was unhurt.

The Fenstermacher girl, however, was thrown against the right front seat which folded downward, sending her flying against the windshield with the impact shattering the glass. She was rushed to a nearby physician where sutures were taken to close the wounds before she was able to continue home.

Bob Reese Outdoes Kelly as All-Stars Win Tidoute Game

Burning the nets for 31 points, Bob Reese paced the way for the Warren All-Stars 66-59 victory over the Tidoute Vets at Tidoute this weekend. The contest was "sweet revenge" for Warren, having received several lickings at the hands of the Vets in post-season tilts.

After leading 15-13 at the end of the first eight minutes, the All-Stars fell behind by a similar margin at half-time before staging a 36-point rally in the last two stanzas that pulled out a seven-point win.

Joe Kelly, former Tidoute High ace, and member of the AP's Little All-State third team, was the big gun for the losers with 28 counters. He was followed by Bob Schwab and Dick Knight with 14 and 11 respectively. Behind Reese in the All-Stars pointmaking were Ed Lindberg and Ricky Scallise with 11 and 10.

Through The Wind Tunnel

It's usually so difficult to laugh on Monday that we're inclined to write today's Wind Tunnel with the aid of "The Hemlock Cup", a humorous publication sent to us by Mike D'Angelo, student at Allegheny College.

For example, here's an ad. by a Meadville barber shop: "We Clip While You Drip. A nifty collection of shrunken heads to entertain you while you wait. While in the chair let us give you an estimate. On the floor there's no gore."

Roha's Half-Hour Bendix Laundry, Meadville, says in its ad: "Please send somebody down at once. Strange library assistant keeps peering out from little window in Bendix. Yells something about soap in his eyes."

It's Habit to Choose Indians, Says Talbot

Oklahoma City, April 7.—(P)—At approximately this date each spring we select the Cleveland Indians to win the American League pennant. It has become a habit not easily broken.

This time the feeling is overwhelming that the Tribe will take it going away, barring injury to one or more of their key players. They are an impressive set of athletes, and not just because they have been giving the Giants their lumps on the training trail.

They have everything they had last season, when they pursued the Yankees to the wire, and they appear to have added some strength in the form of a big rookie outfielder named Jim Fridgey, who hits from the right side. Luke Easter and Larry Doby are hitting them a mile and running the bases with an alarming abandon. It's difficult to see how they can miss.

Wittenberg Enters Amityville Trials And Finals at Ames

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Ithaca, N. Y., April 7.—(P)—Henry Wittenberg, whose exploits as a bandit-snagging cop have been more dramatic than his role as the world's outstanding amateur wrestler, plans a shot at the Summer Olympics and then retirement "for good."

"I thought I'd quit after the last Olympics," the barrel-chested, 33-year-old New York police sergeant said today, "but the urge got too great, so I thought I'd take one more fling."

The Manhattan policeman came out of a four-year period of inactivity to win his eighth national AAU championship—in the 191-pound division—over the weekend at Cornell University. His eight titles came in as many tries since 1940 for an AAU all-time record.

Wittenberg will attempt to qualify for the Olympics in the trials at Amityville, L. I., next Friday and Saturday and, if successful, will seek a team berth in the finals at Ames, Ia., April 16-19.

There isn't the slightest thought that he'll fail to reach his goal. Unbeaten in 13 years and winner of nearly 400 straight bouts, Wittenberg is rated internationally as king of the light-heavyweights. He won the Olympic title in 1948 at London.

Two other former champions—Newt Coppel, a 31-year-old cattle rancher from Bassett, Neb., and Shuford Swift, 30-year-old Navy lieutenant—won 1952 AAU titles Saturday night.

Coppel captured the tough 147.5 division, a class he won in 1948, and Swift prevailed as a 174.5-pounder, regaining the title he held in 1949-1950.

Five new champions were crowned in the other weights. They were: Sidney Nodland, 17-year-old Long Island schoolboy, 114.5; Jack Blubaugh, Ponca City, Okla., paratrooper, 125.5; Josiah Hanson, 30-year-old Naval flier, 136.5; James Larock, 27-year-old Ithaca College student, 160.5, and Lt. Richard Clark, 23-year-old Army airman, heavyweight.

The special Armed Forces squad won 20 points for the team trophy. The New York A. C. had 12 for second and the Long Island (N. Y.) grapplers 10 for third.

Williams, Coleman To See Combat Duty

Willow Grove, Pa., April 7.—(P)—Capt. Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox star, will probably see combat duty as a Marine flier, a Reserve training command here believes.

Commenting on the recall to active duty of Williams, and Jerry Coleman, New York Yankee infielder, the officer said "It's a good bet Williams and all other recalled fliers will see combat."

Williams is due to report May 2 for some two months of preliminary training before going to Cherry Point, N. C., for specific assignment, he said. Coleman is due to report to a West Coast base the same day.

NCAA Mitt Winners In Wisconsin Meet Eye Olympic Berths

By CHRIS EDMONDS
Madison, Wis., April 7.—(P)—The Olympics beckoned today to nine of this nation's best college boxers and a 10th spunky candidate from the Hawaiian Islands.

The Collegians, crowned NCAA mitt champions Saturday night before the 13,231 fans in the University of Wisconsin field house, earned with their titles a chance to compete for berths on the U. S. Olympic team this summer. The 15th annual national collegiate meet was sanctioned by the Olympic committee as a regional qualifying test.

Only three of the five champions who started in the three-day, 59-hour static marathon last Thursday survived. Two of them—heavyweight Bob Ranc of Wisconsin, and light-heavyweight Chuck Spieser of Michigan State—posted knockouts in the process of defending their laurels. The third, featherweight Neil Orstun of Minnesota, won all three of his bouts by unanimous decision.

Ranc's second round stop of Louisiana State's Evans Howell came in the final bout and gave the host badgers the grueling team trophy for the sixth time in the 15 year history of the tournament. Spieser's 34-second knockout of Don Quarles of North Carolina, A & T in the semi-finals was the fastest of the meet. Both were recorded officially as TKOs.

Other individual champions are Ray Kybomaya of the University

Mediocre 286 Gives Sam Snead Master Victory at Atlanta

Augusta, Ga., April 7.—(P)—It could be that Sam Snead didn't win the 1952 Masters Golf tournament but that four others lost it.

That's what a lot of folks were saying as they left the Augusta national course late yesterday after Snead hung up a mediocre 286 and not another golfer could get close to it.

His final round was a par 72—modest for such a man as Snead.

That 286 was the worst four rounds of victorious golf ever shot in a Masters' but still it was good enough to give the Mountaineer from West Virginia a four-stroke margin over Jack Burke, Jr.

Burke played the finest golf of the wintry, windy day in shooting a 60—three under par on the 9,960 yard national—for 290.

Behind Burke came Jim Ferrier, Tommy Bolt and Al Besselink with 291 and then Lloyd Mangum with 292.

Before the final round opened five men had chances to win—Snead, Ben Hogan, Besselink, Bolt and Middlecoff. With a chance at one of golf's greatest titles the five went out to make their bid.

Tommy Bolt was first up among those ranking the lowest but he blew his chances completely. The man called "Thunder" because of a roaring temper dropped into a tie for third with an inglorious 74 for a 291 total.

Al Besselink had a chance to win, especially when Snead faltered on the front nine. But the big, confident kid faltered also. His final 74 gave him a 291.

Finally, there was Ben Hogan, the guy who just doesn't blow up. But yesterday Ben blew as he hasn't blown in years—a 79 for a 293 and a tie with three others for seventh.

of Hawaii, whose flyweight triumph was the first NCAA mitt trophy ever won by an islander; Frank Echavarría of Idaho, bantamweight; Archie Slaten of Miami (Fla.), lightweight; Chuck Adkins of San Jose (Calif.) State, light welterweight; Bob Morgan of Wisconsin, welterweight; Ellis Webb of Idaho State, light middleweight, and Gordon Gledson of Washington State, middleweight.

Slaten punched out the meet's top upset in the semi-finals when he dumped Everett Conley of Washington State, who was seeking his third straight lightweight title.

Chapter 33
KAY had been silently crying through the trek back to the house. Now she opened the bedroom door and watched her mother disappear into the room. She turned to look at Johnny Saxton. He saw her bite the inside of her lower lip.

He said, "We were close that time." He smiled. "She's liable to remember everything all of a sudden. Don't be discouraged."

"I'll stay with mother. I'm not going to leave her."

"But get some sleep."

She tried to smile. "I'll try."

ED, the freckled-faced garage man, was saying, "This one's sure gonna be a scorcher if we don't get some rain."

"Isn't it though?" Johnny said. The mechanic from the Northport garage had just picked him up outside the entrance to the Smith estate. It was a little after ten o'clock, and since the day was Sunday, there was little traffic at this hour on Route 25A.

"Of course we could've walked here. But it's a little ways from here. But it's too blasted hot."

It seemed as if they had only started—Johnny noted that the speedometer registered less than a mile—when Ed slowed the car and turned off to the right into a dirt country road. He eased the car to the side of the narrow road and stopped.

"Wait!" he said, looking at Johnny Saxton. "Here we are."

They climbed out to the road-way and Johnny passed the fellow a cigarette.

"Shall we... ah... take a look?" Johnny suggested.

"Oh, sure," said the mechanic, motioned to the intersection of 25A, just behind the car. "It's this way."

Johnny followed him, sun-kissed dust kicking up from his heels as he walked.

They turned back along the main road for about fifty feet. The field beside the road was a dry one, perhaps twenty-five

Chapter 33
HANDS in his pockets, a questioning frown in his eyes, Johnny strolled toward the low building. He walked around it slowly, carefully observing the windows. He saw that the board window coverings could be swung open—but only from the inside.

On the porch were wide double doors. He tried the knob of one, found it securely locked. At the far end of the veranda was another smaller door. Woodwork of the building was badly in need of paint, and had decayed in spots.

Examining the trim around the smaller door at the far end of the porch, he found that a strip adjoining the door latch was loose. There was a Yale-type lock. Johnny took the penknife from his pocket and, using the longer blade, managed to work it behind the partially rotted strip. Finally the blade grated against the bolt part of the lock that held the door fast in the frame. By careful manipulation Johnny at last managed to slip the snap bolt back a quarter of an inch. It was sufficient. The door opened.

He pinched out the cigarette, flipped the butt away and stepped inside the building.

The place did not have the musty smell of a house that has been closed for an indefinite time. Eyes narrowing, Johnny stepped back and closed the door behind him.

He saw that there were two large rooms, connected by an archway. Light came through from windows in the double doors and showed him the interior.

On a side wall he saw a large glass-enclosed gun rack. It contained rifles and shotguns. Near it was a smaller glass case holding small arms. Johnny's eye-brows lifted. It was a nice collection and probably worth plenty of money.

The second room was similar to the first but contained, at one end, a small portable bar and a tiny kitchenette.

there was no sound. He wondered if his presence had been detected. There was one way to find out.

He raised his head slowly, figuring on the shadows in this part of the room acting as a cover.

He saw the girl standing there, a certain tenseness in her trim, straight figure. She was watching the pathway on the far side of the bluff. As though finally reassured that she had not been observed or followed, she closed the door.

The girl was Kay.

Johnny watched her next actions with interest. She stepped to the card table, removed the portable typewriter from its case and pulled a chair up to the table. Sitting down, her movements sure, poised and quick, she removed a folded sheet of paper from the pocket of her white linen sports jacket. She unfolded the paper and put it into the machine.

Slowly, one letter at a time, she started pecking at the keys. Johnny watched. When she finished, she shifted the carriage, slowly started another.

Overcome with curiosity, Johnny Saxton came out from behind the door. Rubber-soled shoes made his approach soundless.

"Two feet behind Kay Smith he craned his neck and read the words just typed on the paper: YOU ARE NOT IRENE SMITH. DON'T TRY TO REMEMBER WHO YOU ARE. OTHERWISE THERE MIGHT BE ANOTHER ..."

He waited as the last word was slowly typed out. It was "A-C-C-I-D-E-N-T."

Finished, the girl sat and looked at the words. Johnny, too, stared at them with consternation. Then he realized that Kay was aware of another person being in the room. She didn't move. Her breathing seemed to have stopped completely. One slim hand, resting on the card table, started to quiver.

Johnny said, "That is what I call a pretty good copy of the real thing!"

Sheffield School Is Selected For Research Project

H. L. Blair, county superintendent of schools, has been advised in a special communication from Harrisburg that Lincoln school in Sheffield has been selected as a participating member in a research project entitled "Increasing the Percentage of Correction of Health Defects of School Children."

The project is under the direction of William G. Matney, Social Science Research Center, which is sponsored by the Health Information Foundation of New York City.

In the notification concerning the Sheffield school, John W. German, Jr., chief of the school division of the department of health and Elmer B. Cottrell, chief of the department of public instruction, write Mr. Blair that both of these groups are represented on the advisory committee for this research and ask the full cooperation of school personnel.

Representatives from Pennsylvania State College will make a study of the health records of the school and ask for other information which from time to time becomes necessary.

The study, according to the two Harrisburg men, is not aimed at the examination procedure itself, but is limited to a study of the corrections following the examinations. No attempt will be made to compare the efficiency of one school with that of another.

Men In Service

LEARN KNOW HOW

The "know how" of successful wartime merchant shipping was learned recently by Lt. Cmdr Ned T. Perry, son of Mrs. Nellie B. Perry, Clarendon, as a member of Patrol Squadron 34, which has just completed major convoy exercises in the Atlantic between Long Island and Panama. The maneuvers, known as Convoy Exercises 3, were realistic in that Navy transports, tankers and cargo ships sailed from New York, Norfolk and other east coast ports in the same manner as did Allied convoys of World War II. Opposing them, and attempting to close sea lanes, were "enemy" forces of submarines, surface raiders and land-based patrol bombers.

REPORTS FOR COURSE

Reporting for a combat information center course at the Newport, R. I., Fleet Training Center from the destroyer USS Cassin Young, is Ensign Harland J. Rue, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harland J. Upon completion of the course, students return to duties aboard their assigned ships.

Daily Citizenship Ceremonies in the Schools Discussed

Instruction in the fundamental principles of daily citizenship ceremonies in public schools as mandated by Act 497, approved by the Governor of Pennsylvania January 5, 1952, was one of the topics brought to the attention of the principals of Warren public schools at their regular monthly meeting, called by Dr. Carl E. Whipple, superintendent, and Gerald Newton, director of instruction and curriculum, at the high school. A letter received from Francis B. Mann, state superintendent of public instruction, speaks specifically of the daily ceremony of the flag salute and the pledge of allegiance to the United States of America and the present instruction in the history and government of the United States and of Pennsylvania.

That somewhere along the educational path the incentive to write well loses its force was another matter discussed. Dr. Whipple suggested that a dated handwriting sample, taken late in the sixth grade, should become a part of the permanent record file for each pupil. This sample would be selected from the pupil's daily work and not specifically prepared for the file and would be available to teachers if a pupil's handwriting becomes poor to determine whether the pupil is doing his best. Mr. Newton stressed that additional efforts should be made to acquaint the public with the different ways in which pupils in all grades and particularly the senior high school students use the community as a laboratory for learning, giving as examples the news writing class, swimming, the after-class work in stores by students in distributive education, part-time employment aside from distributive education, and machine shop practice.

A report was made that the total school savings for March from the students of the Warren public schools, excluding the senior high school, was $2,477.83. Other business discussed was the dates for this year's final examinations, for next year's Bunde Day, and for inspection of the school building by Dr. Whipple and Jerome Paul, maintenance manager of the buildings.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

March 21, 1952

Dear Warren People, Landstuhl is a quaint town but there are reminders there that are not quaint at all. The bends of the streets make walking fascinating for there is always a sudden corner with a surprise shop window around the next corner. The corners are come to right suddenly; not like the one we tried to get to during the "threatening thirties".

While walking is nice in a quaint town such as Landstuhl, the traffic is terrific. I never fail to think how the American officers' cars seem to dwarf the very buildings around them. I say American officers for one doesn't see the average soldier sporting them. European cars are small, smart, snug, and economical to run. One feels that the European car is built to the small road and the sudden corners. The American car is rather a pretentious being. Sometimes I am not too sure such a car should be allowed here. Granted it is a psychological thing but it looks about as sensible as Catherine taking her Chrysler and parking it out on the front lawn on Market St. I often wonder what the American car reminds the Communist inclined Landstuhl gentlemen towards. It probably reminds him that there are large oil fields near El Paso, Texas. For weeks now a building has been going up in front of another in Landstuhl. I see it nearly every week. The new building is of a sort of old rose brick. The old building is of yellow stone. The old one is never used. That is unusual in overcrowded Germany. The yellow building looks very lonely, deserted, and as though with an echo of former times. The new, half-finished pink building already looks "housed" and "with laughter". Quinn Smith could explain in paint better than I can with words. The yellow house has a sign on it. It reads "Walther Klug House". On either side of the sign in heavy black paint are swastikas still. The pink house will be there to hide the swastikas.

I keep wanting to know if someone will walk around that sudden corner and find the yellow building still there and, perhaps, freshly painted.

A BOY AT CALVARY

Though Sakron winced with each whistling lash of the whip, Jesus' face betrayed no emotion. When at last He was scarcely able to stand, the soldiers dressed Him in a purple cloak and crown of thorns, mocking Him as King.

The sport quickly grew fierce. Some inner grace seemed to separate Jesus from His tormentors. Returning His own robe, the Romans placed a huge wooden cross upon the Nazarene's shoulders. Through the streets of Jerusalem, toward Calvary, He tottered.

Beautiful to Give for EASTER

Crosses... 1.98

Rosaries... 1.00

A very thoughtful and beautiful gift to your dear ones. The Crosses are filled with fine engraving. The rosaries are silver-plated.

By Jay Heavilin and Walt Scott

Sakron followed the procession. Near the weak man who stumbled and fell beneath His load, Sakron did not feel as if he were alone in a strange city. Was it because he had been near Jesus in Bethany? Or was it something more?
